Local Notes.

Dr J N Jolly will preach at the Methodist church Friday evening at 7 o'clock.

The U. D. C. will meet at Mrs B. F. Hudson next Monday the 8th at 2:30 o'clock. All members are required to be present.

Business Change.

Guy L Davidson has purchased the stock of Curry & Davidson and taken charge of the establishment. He is a fine young man, and The Record predicts a successful career for him. Mr Davidson will continue to practice law and Mr Curry tells us he will remain in Lancaster but has not yet decided what he will do.

Good Idea.

The Garrard Hotel Company, wishing to get the lot in shape for building, agreed to give the town all the rock on the premises provided the town would move them at once and have them crushed and placed upon the streets. The council wisely accepted offer and a number of teams have been removing the stone. As soon as a crusher can be obtained, the work will proceed and the Public Square put in decent shape, for which the people will sing a song of praise.

Good Tobacco Show

The tobacco show, advertised in The Record by Mr Jas Jones the coal dealer, drew quite a number of people to his place of business Saturday. There were many entries and some fine tobacco shown. The judges were Messrs. Jas Burnside, Jas Clark, Wm Smith and Albert Ware. The prize, a ton of coal, was awarded to Mr Jasper Cox. No second prize was offered, but had there been, it would have gone to Mr Jona Marsee. The contest was for the best five pounds of bright leaf burley.

Enforcement Of Law.

Eld F M Tinder preached a most excellent discourse Sunday on the enforcement of law. He will discuss the same all important question next Sunday. Nothing is of more vital importance to Lancaster just at this time. Each citizen is responsible for the enforcement of the law, for, unless the people stand by officers in their efforts to keep the peace, the officers, no matter how diligent, can succeed. If you know a law is being violated, it is your duty as a citizen to assist in bringing the guilty to justice. Not that you are to don a uniform and do police duty, act as a detective or spy, but possibly you can assist in other ways. Ever think of it in that light?

At conclusion of installation of officers at the Masonic lodge, Tuesday evening, the members were guests of Master elect, W O Rigney, at a delightful supper at Zimmer's.

Property Sold.

J M Logan, through Huges & Swinebroad, sold to R E McRoberts the lot on Danville street. 41 acres. It is a nice location suitable for building.

Sale of Good Horse.

Mr Geo D Robinson, of Marsellus, sold to Turner Lemmon, of Nevada, Ky, a three-year-old Chester Dares stallion for $525. The horse has been much admired, as are all this family stock and has a brilliant future.

A double wedding took place at the residence of Squire Am Bourne where his daughter, Miss Aggie was married to Mr been Sutton and his sister Miss Aggie was married to Mr John T Hotzclaw of Preachersville, Rev C S Ellis officiating.

Doing Nicely.

Cashier J M Smith, of the Bank of Bryansville, was in Lancaster Tuesday and left the quarterly statement of his bank, which appears in this issue. By his clever, courteous manner, Mr Smith has made many friends for the bank, and it has had a good, steady growth which speaks well for his management.

Excellent Young Man's Death.

The deepest sympathy of our people goes out to our townsman, Mr Jas A Beazley over the death of his brother, Lige, which occurred at his home in Stanford last week. Mr Beazley was a young man, and leaves a widow and child. He was well known in Lancaster and was well thought of by all. The deceased was an active member of the Methodist church, and one of Lincoln's most prominent and popular young men.

Council Organizes.

The new City Council was duly organized Monday night. In assuming his duties, Mayor Ed Bishop took occasion to make some valuable suggestions as to how to obtain the best results, which were heartily concurred in by the members. The new board starts out smoothly, and The Record believes will never get at loggerheads. The following officers were appointed: Attorney, R L Davidson; Clerk, Louis L Burnside; Treasurer, R T Embury; Supt. Water Works, Jas A. Beazley; Chief of Police, Sam D Rothwell (Big Injun) Assistant Police, Mat Siler.

Lost, small fox terrier dog. Left my place near Hiattsville, last week. Reward for return. H K Herndon.

Married at Hotel Gilcher.

Mr Henry C Arnold, of Garrard, and Miss Ida H Royse, of Madison, were married in the parlors of the Gilcher, at 12:30 p. m., Dec. 27, by Dr E H Pearce. Mr Arnold is one of the most prominent and popular young business men of Garrard county, and his bride one of the most attractive and accomplished young ladies of Madison. The couple were handsomely attended by Mr and Mrs Sanders, of Garrard, friends of the bride and groom, and after an elegant luncheon at the Gilcher, returned to the home of the groom in Garrard.

Garrard County Institution Thriving.

We call attention to statement of Peoples Bank of Paint Lick, in this issue of the Record. As our readers know, this institution was established only a few years ago, and its growth has been very rapid. Paint Lick is a town hemmed in by towns of much larger population, and has only a small territory to draw from, therefore the rapid rise of her bank is worthy of especial mention. While at first it had only a small amount of cash to work upon yet the money was managed by officers who knew not only how to handle it, but how to treat with the patrons. The Record has often spoken of the business enterprise of the city of Paint Lick, as it is in Garrard county and is loyal to Lancaster. We have always told our readers of Paint Lick's progress and we always rejoice in her success. As her bank is largely responsible for her success, we must call especial attention to the healthy condition of this institution.

A Valuable Cent.

James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railroad, gave a striking illustration of the narrow margin of profit in the railroad business while testifying before the Senate Committee on Interstate Commerce last May.

"The railroads are not getting any such return as is supposed by some people," said Mr. Hill. "If you take the returns on the actual investment of the railroads in the country it is very low. For the purpose of illustration: To move a ton of freight 10 miles in a day and a team to get back would be a good day's work for a farmer's team; and he would want $3 and think he was not overpaid. Now, a difference of a copper sent in moving a ton of freight 10 miles on the Great Northern Railway would make $3,600,000 in a year and on the Pennsylvania system about $13,000,000. Does anybody think he can sit down and with a wave of his hand, or that a court or anybody in the world, is competent to fix a rate that is adjusted as finely as that is?"

OLD FIRM—NEW QUARTERS.

The Joseph Mercantile Company Moves Into Beautiful New Rooms. Well Fixed.

The Joseph Mercantile Co., one of the oldest firms in town, is now located in its new quarters, the Robinson store room recently occupied by Mr Postle. The entire building, although a comparatively new one, has been thoroughly overhauled, painted, etc., and is one of the prettiest in Central Kentucky. There is much more room the goods can be shown at a much better advantage than in the old location. The building is larger, and both stories will be used. Each line of goods has been largely added to, and new goods are arriving every day.

Mr Joseph has been in business in Lancaster since a mere boy, and is known all over this section of the state for his honesty, uprightness and general usefulness as a citizen. He contributes liberally to every worthy cause, and was never known to oppose and throw cold water on any movement for the betterment of the town. No man has ever lived a better life in Lancaster than has big hearted "Jake" Joseph, and every man, woman and child knows that whatever he says is just that way, or he firmly believes that it is. He never misrepresents goods, or anything else, and when you make a deal with him you are certain to be given value received.

The new location has a wash room, waiting room, and water closets for the free use of customers, and a most cordial invitation is extended the public to visit the new quarters, especially the people from the country in town to spend the day. Additional new clerks have been employed, and with increased facilities, more room, and more goods, The Record knows you will not regret a visit to this store.

Masonic Election.

At the annual election of officers, Lancaster Lodge, 101, Free and accepted Mason, chose the following: W O Rigney, W M, J M Rothwell, S W, Henry V Bastin, J W, Jas A Beazley, Secty, Louis Landram, Treas., A T Anderson, S & T. The deacons will be appointed at next meeting.

We have decided to continue the Mercantile business in Lancaster and will put in an up to date line Dry Goods notions, carpets, matings, furnishing goods and shoes. We respectfully solicit the trade of the people of Lancaster Garrard and adjoining counties, and we will do our best to merit your patronage.

Respectfully

The Logan Dry Goods Co.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Held by the Sunday School of The Christian Church to Late H A B Marksbury.

The late H A B Marksbury, who was superintendent of the large Sunday School of the Christian Church, in this city, for many years, will live in the memory of the children and the good people of the community, on account of his good work among them, the fruits of which will be a monument to his memory which is most beautiful and enduring than the chiselled marble.

On the Sunday following his death that school, its teachers and members of the church held impressive memorial services. It was presided over by W I Williams, presentsuperintendent of the school, who read several appropriate scriptures, after which an earnest prayer was offered by F M Tinder. The committee on resolutions reported through its chairman, B F Hudson, who made remarks that were deeply touching. He was followed by W J Pope, Mrs Emma Kauffman, Eld Tindler J C Robinson and Miss Amanda Anderson, all of whom extolled the character of the deceased. It was agreed that the primary class should still be known as "Mr Marksbury's Class". The service was tender and sympathetic, a large crowd being in attendance.

Your committee on resolutions relative to our departed friend and brother H A B Marksbury would respectfully submit the following:

Be it resolved first: that as in the course of all life and that in accordance with the laws of nature that all things material and earthly must pass away, the time for the departure our brother has arrived and that in his being called hence, this Sunday school has sustained an irreparable loss. The children for whom he cherished so much affection, the youth whom he loved no less and those of more advanced years, his companions and friends with whom he had sweet fellowship in the vineyard of his master, have assembled to do him honor as we mourn his loss.

Be it resolved, that we extend our sincere condolence to the bereaved family and would say to them "mourn not as those who are without hope, for there is a crown of righteousness for those who die in the Lord."

Be it resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Sunday School, that they be published in the Central Record and a copy be presented to the family. (Signed) B F Hudson, J C Robinson, W O Rigney, Wm H Pope, Mrs Emma Kauffman, Miss Amanda Anderson Committee.

LOUIS LANDRAM.

Entered at the Post Office in Lancaster, Ky., as Second-Class Mail Matter.

Member of Kentucky Press Association

Lancaster, Ky., January 5, 1906

The Kentucky State Press Association will meet in Frankfort, Tuesday the 23rd, and it is quite likely that every quill-driver in the state will be present, as the newspaper men have found that these mid-winter meetings result in much. It required much work to induce the editors to get together, as in former years the meetings drifted into nothing but pleasure junkies, eating lunches and fling up on beer at some brewery expecting a lot of free advertising. The boys have realized that such things do not pay grocers' bills, so in the last three or four years have worked to cut it out. There is no business organization in the state conducted on better principles, nor could a better collection of men be gotten together. However, no class of men do more favors costing work, material and hired labor, and get absolutely no thanks therefor.

The Record joins with the entire press of the state in congratulating Hon. Henry Lawrence upon election as Speaker of the House. Mr. Lawrence is in every way qualified for the place. While the editor of The Record was president of the State Press Association, Mr. Lawrence served as one of the executive committee, and the close relations in business matters pertaining to the newspaper business convinced us that Henry Lawrence was not only competent and capable, but willing to hold up his end of the log in any proposition.

The Elizabethtown News, Harry Sommers' splendid paper, has blossomed into a semi weekly. The News is one of the best papers published, and Harry Sommers as big hearted, brainy and honorable a man as Kentucky ever produced. We wish him every success.

Another winter most gone and no girl has taken Jim Allen, the bachelor editor of the Cynthia Democrat upon whose manly back to warm her icy footies these long, cold nights. Too bad, too bad, for if his back is as warm as his heart, some winsome lassie is letting a good thing pass.

When you bring it right down to the cold facts, many a man is more thankful when Christmas is past than during the "Season of Rejoicing," especially those who are called upon to furnish the many dollars squandered during the season of gift giving.

If you have trouble sticking on the exceedingly slippery water wagon, why not have the seat of your pants "rough shod," as we farmers say?

The crop of New Year's swear-offs is reported to be up to the average. The poor boozers come in for many a hardship right now.

Mr Bright Herring and Mrs Mollie Swope were married at the residence of the bride, on Lexington street, last week. The bride is a very popular and attractive young woman, and one of the best teachers in the county. Mr Herring is a son of the late James Herring, and is a man who has the confidence and esteem of all who know him. He is one of Garrard's most successful farmers.

It would require more space than we have this week to give the write up of the many parties and other entertainments. Each were attended by the belles and beaux of the town, county and adjoining cities, and elegant suppers and lighter refreshments served. It was a gala week for local society, and the many happy occasions will be long remembered by those fortunate enough to have been there. Among those who entertained at their lovely homes were Misses Theo Hemphill, Annie Herndon, Edna Mason, Bessie Mae Lear, Kattie Lee Denny and many more who failed to hear of.

When a "Saxton Dance" is announced, the heart of every young girl and boy who can dance leaps with joy, and all society looks forward to the occasion with great pleasure. It means the bringing together of the belles and beaux of this immediate section of the state and spending of a most delightful evening. The large store room just vacated by the Joseph Mercantile Co., was secured, and the floor recently put down furnished most exquisite place upon which to glide through the dreamy waltz, or chase through the frolicsome two step. The music by Saxton & Trost's orchestra was superb, and the many Lancaster friends of these two famous musicians applauded every number. Many spectators were there only to hear the music, and the frequent encores proved how much they appreciated the sweet strains. There were about fifty couples present, and jolly old "Sax" was kept "fiddling" until time for him to catch the early morning train.

The marriage of Miss Fannie Fletcher Doty and Mr J Bradford Jennings took place at the home of bride's parents, in this city, Wednesday at 1:30 p m., in the presence of close relatives. The ceremony was said by Eld F M Tindler in his usual impressive manner. Immediately thereafter, Mr and Mrs Jennings took a carriage for Danville, there boarding a Queen & Crescent train for an extended trip through the East. They will be gone for some days before returning to Lancaster, at which time Mr Jennings will begin traveling through several states as salesman for The J M Logan Co., commission merchants, New York City. The bride is the eldest daughter of County Clerk and Mrs Alex Doty. She is a leader in Lancaster society, and her many charming traits have won a legion of friends. Since her parents moved to Lancaster, she has frequently entertained her friends at the hospitable home of her parents, and she was beloved by all for her kindness of heart and interest in the welfare of others. Mr Jennings has been in the mercantile business in Lancaster for a number of years. He is the son of Mr and Mrs Henry Clay Jennings, and is a gentleman regarded by all as a remarkably good business man. He is steady and reliable and enjoys the confidence of the people. No young couple ever began the voyage upon the matrimonial sea with more good wishes, and The Record joins in the hope and belief that their lives will be filled with joy and happiness.

A FOOLISH PLAN

"It is a joy to eat—I welcome my dinner hour: Because I root indigestion with August Flower!"

Constipation is the result of indigestion, biliousness, flatulency, loss of appetite, self-poisoning, anemia, emaciation, uric acid, neuralgia in various parts of the system, catarrhal inflammation of the intestinal canal and numerous other ailments that rob life of its pleasures if they do not finally rob you of life itself.

"I'm bound in the bowels," is a common expression of people who look miserable and are miserable—yet who persist in "letting nature take its course."

What a foolish plan, when nature could be aided by the use of Green's August Flower, which is nature's own remedy for constipation and all stomach ills.

August Flower gives new life to the liver and insures healthy stools.

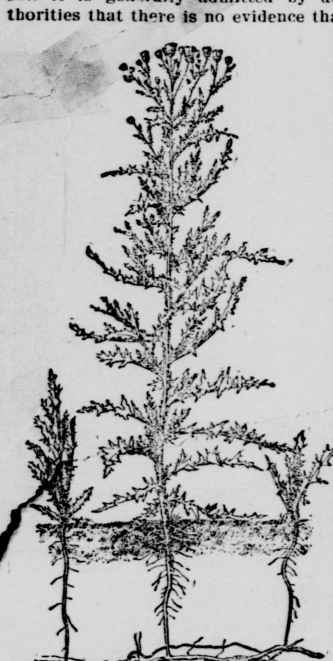

Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

ROOTS OF CANADA THISTLE

Discussion by Experts as to Theory That They Have Hibernating Qualities.

The experiment stations have done practically nothing along the line of investigating the hibernating qualities of the root stalk of certain plants. Therefore, no one cares to assume the responsibility of clearly declaring that the root stalk possesses no hibernating quality. On account of the tenacity of the root stalk of the Canada thistle, and the difficulty with which it is succeeded in eradicating it from the soil it is generally admitted by authorities that there is no evidence that will warrant a clearly defined denial of the supposition that the root stalks of the Canada thistle have hibernating qualities.

In reference to this matter Lyster H. Dewey, Bureau of plant industry, Washington, writes:

"It is a well-known fact that when conditions are unfavorable for growth the roots and rootstalk of many plants remain practically dormant. This is true of the Canada thistle, as of many other plants propagated in a similar manner. I do not think we could state, however, with certainty that one portion of the rootstalk or one set of roots remains dormant while others continue to grow. It is sometimes thought that while roots and root stalks are dormant they are weaker in vitality, and this is the best time to attack them, with a view of exterminating the plants. In general, however, this is an erroneous supposition. When these underground parts are dormant they can withstand cultivation and other rough treatment that would kill them if they were more active and in a condition to send up roots at every opportunity.

Dr. L. H. Pammel, botanist Iowa experiment station, Ames, considers that the life of the root stalk is limited. He writes:

"The length of time that the Canada thistle may retain its vitality under conditions mentioned has not been definitely determined. I am of the opinion, however, that it cannot be for a great length of time.

"The case of the hibernating conditions of the cockle burr is quite a different thing. The cockle burr seed is protected by a very hard coat, which prevents the moisture from getting in to the plant. The root stalk of the Canada thistle is fleshy, and hence cannot protect itself from unfavorable conditions in the same way as the cockle burr. However, this is a subject worthy of investigation."

Prof. A. M. Ten Eyck, agriculturist of the Kansas experiment station, after calling attention to the hibernating qualities of seeds in general, goes on to say:

"Whether portions of the Canada thistle root stalk lie dormant in this way waiting for a favorable condition to grow I am unable to say. Certain it is that the roots of the Canada thistle have a great deal of vitality and are able to start again and again, even when the plants are cut off almost as rapidly as the shoot appears at the surface of the ground. Canada thistles may be destroyed, however, by hoeing them frequently and keeping up the practice until the plants fail to start. I think that the reason that they have not been fully killed in some cases is due to the fact that they are neglected occasionally and allowed to grow sufficiently to revitalize the roots."

G. W. Churchill, agriculturist of the New York experiment station at Geneva, says:

"I do not know of any experimental data that would warrant definite conclusions regarding the propagation of the Canada thistle. What practical knowledge we have, however, it seems to me would be adverse to the theory propounded. We know that by keeping the Canada thistle cut off so that no growth is allowed for a season they are practically exterminated.

"In the case of the cockle burr mentioned, I questioned if the fact that some of the seeds grow one season and others do not, but vegetate in succeeding years, is due to their being structurally different. I think that it is simply due to the fact that part of the seed has been placed where conditions are favorable to growth and others in unfavorable conditions. The same may be true with the Canada thistle, except that it is propagated by root stalks as well as seeds. I am sorry that I cannot refer you to some definite experiment that would settle this question."

NAVY IN BAD SHAPE.

COULD NOT WIN BATTLES, SAYS ADMIRAL RAE.

Engineer-in-Chief Declares That Experienced Machinery Are Lacking in Make-up of Fleet.

Washington, D. C.—"Were the country suddenly plunged in war the navy would find itself in no condition to wage battles," says Rear Admiral Charles W. Rae, engineer-in-chief of the United States navy, in his annual report. He calls attention to the critical condition of engineering in the navy, and points to the explosion of the gunboat Bennington in San Diego harbor, which he says most forcibly emphasizes the necessity of serious and immediate attention.

Speaking of the operations of the personnel bill, which merged the corps of engineers into the line of the navy, he says a whole corps of specialists was virtually abolished and its duties transferred to the line.

"Owing to the absence of specific instructions in the personnel bill, combined with powerful adverse influences within the department," he continues, "for three years absolutely nothing was done by the younger line officers in acquiring engineering experience, and later, owing to the large number of ships kept in commission and the scarcity of officers, but little in that was accomplished."

"So few officers of the line are taking up engineering seriously that the situation is becoming alarming," says the engineer-in-chief, and he adds:

"As necessary as good marksmanship is the ability to carry our guns to the firing line and to keep them there amidst the havoc created by modern ordnance, and this will never be done by amateurs in charge of the machinery. That line officers can become good engineers has already proved, but they must have experience to become so, and that experience must be acquired in subordinate positions. No young officer out of the academy but a short time who would not be given charge of the deck except under the supervision of a senior officer, should be placed in charge of the engineering department of a ship, as has been done. Engineering log a ship belongs to the line, and the line should be made to perform that duty earnestly."

Admiral Rae submits a plan "for quickly supplying the navy with a body of efficient engineers," which provides that all the younger officers must be given engineering duty, and be made to realize their responsibility. The duty to be performed first in a subordinate capacity, and examinations to be strict with engineering ranking with seamanship, gunnery and navigation.

Further, the plan provides for a number of engineering specialists in the line, whose duty at sea and on shore shall be engineering, such officers not to perform sea duty after reaching the grade of commander.

"BE THOU STRONG."

(O. Kings 2:2)

The battle-rage terror! This day forth thou shalt be strong. Some one may think and perish. Some one may-day must yield. The results are many. Where weapons forward press. May in a moment shudder. In utter helplessness.

O, "Be thou strong," my brother! This day forth thou shalt be strong. That glory-lovers ever. The field with danger fraught. Strong in the field of battle. For right sake turn thy stand. And "Be thou strong," to conquer. With courage, O, how grand! —B. F. M. Smith, in United Presbyterian.

THREE CORDS OF LOVE.

This Greatest of Things Manifests Itself Through the Heart and Soul and Mind.

There are three kinds of love—perhaps, rather, I should say, three instruments on which love plays. It manifests itself through the heart, through the soul, or through the mind. Love for you may be either practical, admiring or commanding. The love of the heart is practical; it ministers in common things. The love of the soul is admiring; it looks upon a far-off glory and longs to be near it. The love of the mind is commanding; it has touched a point of equality with its object; it can listen and respond. A mother's love for her child is that of the heart; it is helpful. A poet's love for nature is that of the soul; it is wondering, admiring. A friend's love for a friend is that of the mind; it is intellectual sympathy—communion. I think our love for God plays successively each of these tunes. We begin with the heart; we say "Our Father;" we try to work for our Father. By and by the vision of wonder breaks upon us—the love of the soul; we bow with admiration before the mysteries of the universe. At last comes the glad morning—the love of the mind; we begin to know God, to commune with Him, to speak with Him face to face as to a friend with his friend; that is the manhood of our love.—George Matheson, in the Watchman.

HANDS TIED WITH LILIES.

How the Most Attractive and Fragrant Things in Life May Become a Snare.

A young man lost his life on one of the lakes in eastern Pennsylvania recently in a very strange way. He had been several persons on the lake a rather lively. In reaching for the flowers the nurse of the family, who was one of the party, upset the boat and all were precipitated into the water. The young man was an expert swimmer and attempted to save the nurse and baby, but became entangled in the lilies and sank. When his body was recovered his hands were found bound together by lily stems.

So even the charming lily, the purest of flowers, the emblem of virtue, may become a snare to the unwary. So says the New York Observer in commenting on this. There are many pleasures in life, in themselves as pure and attractive as the lily, but indulged to excess they entwine themselves about the soul and drown it in worldliness. Blessings are good, but God may give so many of them that a soul might be destroyed by them. As an abundance of lilies may tie the hands of a swimmer that he perish by them, so indeed the pleasures of life may bind the soul that it sink into perdition by them.

RAE'S HOPE FULFILLING.

Limitations lead to liberty. Love calls no service degrading. Deeds are the only dependable deeds.

Petters of silk may bind as fast as cotton. Blindness banishes some of our best blessings. A man's foothold depends on our affinity for it. Many a problem comes as a test of our prayers. Christ cannot get in where charity cannot get out. It is easier to analyze one another's burdens than to bear them. The steps are few from dalliance with sin to defiance of God. It is better to seem green to men than not to be fruitful to God. The more of man goes into religion the more religion will get into men. The mightiest force for good is faith in the goodness of the Almighty. God does not ask about man's attitude toward Him; He wants his relationship.

Many a man who would make a first-rate candle maker is making a grand fizzle as an engineer.

The love of God is the only thing that will make you love all kinds of people all the time.

It is no use praying for the salvation of your grocer when he is sitting up nights thinking about your old bills.

As We Give.

A little fellow, who had noticed that his mother put only five cents into the contribution box on Sunday, said to her on the way home, as she was finding fault with the sermon: "Why, mamma, what could you expect for a nickel?" There was sound philosophy in his criticism.

Campaign Humorous.

The political campaign in New York city has not been without its humorous features. At a Hearst meeting the other night one of the orators asked impressively: "What is the one thing that we of the great community are suffering most from at the present time?" He paused and there was a deep silence. "Bedbugs," said a man in the gallery, and the speaker hurried to another topic. At a McClellan meeting Comptroller Grant referred to the other two candidates for mayor "William R. Hearst and William M. Ivins as two promising Williams." "They are two counterfeits," yelled a man in the balcony.

We Know Better Now.

The old way of louting a bank with the aid of a jimmy, a dark lantern, a little powder and a fuse is clumsy and unprofitable altogether in comparison with the modern methods.
